Foreword

Behind every great institution are persons whose assistance contributes to that institution's success. Such an institution is JUSTIN HIGH SCHOOL who with its teachers and students form a friendship with the community.

To this community of friends, the 1968 BRAVE salutes YOU — for you share in Justin High's attempts to educate her students to come to terms with reality and face the impact of life upon the world of today.

dedication

BROTHER JAMES BEDE VAN DUREN, F.S.C.
Principal

Dedication . . .

In dedicating the first Justin High yearbook, it is not by mere convention that we choose to honor our principal, Brother Bede. For Brother Bede represents to us what is good and human and real about the Christian Brothers.

As founding principal in a new administrative venture, he has directed the organization and academic life of Justin High with dynamic leadership. Above this, though, he has gained our respect and admiration because of his concern for each student. This concern has not swayed his firm convictions, but guided them. Each of us has come to realize that this is a real man worthy of imitation.

With all sincerity and gratitude, the students of Justin High dedicate this first Brave to you, Brother Bede.

Scenes of the Solemn Blessing and Dedication of Justin &
Siena High Schools, April, 1967

MOST REVEREND LEO T. MAHER, D.D.
Bishop of Santa Rosa Diocese

Education has always been a paramount value in living and creative cultures. A technical society such as ours must make particularly heavy demands upon its school systems, both public and private. Its survival and progress are directly dependent upon the cultivation of our nation's talent.

Education is also a perpetually evolving process. The task of bettering and improving American education will ever be a challenge and obligation to each generation. It is currently, we are told, undergoing a series of profound transformations. The first revolution has been quantitative—an unmatched effort to extend schooling to all Americans. The second phase, a revolution which has hardly begun, focuses on educational quality, and has as its goal the continuing improvement of instruction in our schools.

Excellence in education has always been a hallmark of the Brothers of the Christian Schools who have a most distinguished history in nearly every quarter of the world. In the midst of uncertain and questioning times, the recent DECLARATION of their Thirty-Ninth Chapter (1967) emphatically restated the central position of the educational apostolate in their mission. "From the beginning," it proclaimed, "the brothers devoted themselves to the Christian education of youth in various ways, but the school has always been the principal work of their apostolate, the one in which the greatest number have been involved."

It is with a great comfort that we see the unreserved confidence and pride of this community in their history and future. There is no confusion regarding the goals, values, and priorities of this body of dedicated and professional churchmen. Today, their schools will not be suppressed or abandoned; rather the brothers have declared, they will be renewed. Today the brothers' Institute is unmistakably "committed to make its contribution to the rebirth of the Christian school, to help create such a school capable of preparing men for the twenty-first century."

The Diocese of Santa Rosa—its clergy, religious and laity—is genuinely honored and grateful to have this community serving the people of Napa County. At the end of its second year, Justin High School, carrying on the cherished traditions of its namesake, in Northern California, has already exhibited great promise of developing into the type of institution designed for the exciting century ahead.

May we extend our commendation to all who have shared in the success of Justin High School.

May we take this happy occasion to congratulate the staff and faculty, the parents and the student.

Faithfully yours in Christ,

✠LEO T. MAHER
Bishop of Santa Rosa

BROTHER T. JEROME WEST, F.S.C.
Provincial

Ninety-nine years ago the Christian Brothers arrived in the Archdiocese of San Francisco to assume the direction of Saint Mary's College on Mission Road which had been opened by the Most Reverend Joseph Sadoc Alemany five years earlier and staffed by the diocesan clergy. This first contingent of eight Christian Brothers was led by an indomitable spirit, Brother Justin McMahon, after whom this school is named. It seems completely fitting that this school, the first Catholic secondary school for boys in Napa County, be named in honor of the first Provincial of the Christian Brothers in California—Brother Justin. His name is perpetuated in San Francisco by Justin Drive, at Saint Mary's College by Justin Hall, and now in the city of Napa by Justin High School. The Christian Brothers today rejoice that this great teacher and outstanding champion of the Catholic school system in the United States is commemorated by this new secondary school.

The name Justin may not have a familiar ring in the Napa valley but the Christian Brothers are no strangers in these surroundings. Since 1932, when the training school for Christian Brothers was established at Mont La Salle, the Brothers have been interested in the area and for a number of years have anticipated the establishment of a Catholic high school for boys. The Catholic people of Napa were also desirous of securing a high school for their children. Through the combined effort of the Christian Brothers, His Excellency, Leo T. Maher, first bishop of the Santa Rosa diocese, and the people of the community these hopes have been realized with the construction of Justin High.

We are grateful to all those who participated with His Excellency and the Christian Brothers in establishing Justin High School.

We wish to thank also the students of Justin High, their parents, and the friends of the school who have so wholeheartedly supported the efforts of our operation under difficult circumstances. Our gratitude extends particularly to the faculty whose untiring efforts and enthusiasm augur well for this new establishment.

In closing, we ask the good Lord to continue to bless the work of Catholic secondary education begun so auspiciously in Napa County.

Cordially yours in Christ,

BROTHER T. JEROME WEST, F.S.C.

ADMINISTRATION

From the Principal

BROTHER JAMES BEDE VAN DUREN, F.S.C.

The faculty and student body of Justin High School is to be highly complimented for their accomplishments over the past two years. The spirit of the school, the quality of the activities, the traditions inaugurated, the standards set forth, all bring gratification to those of us whose fortune it has been to have had personal contact with you.

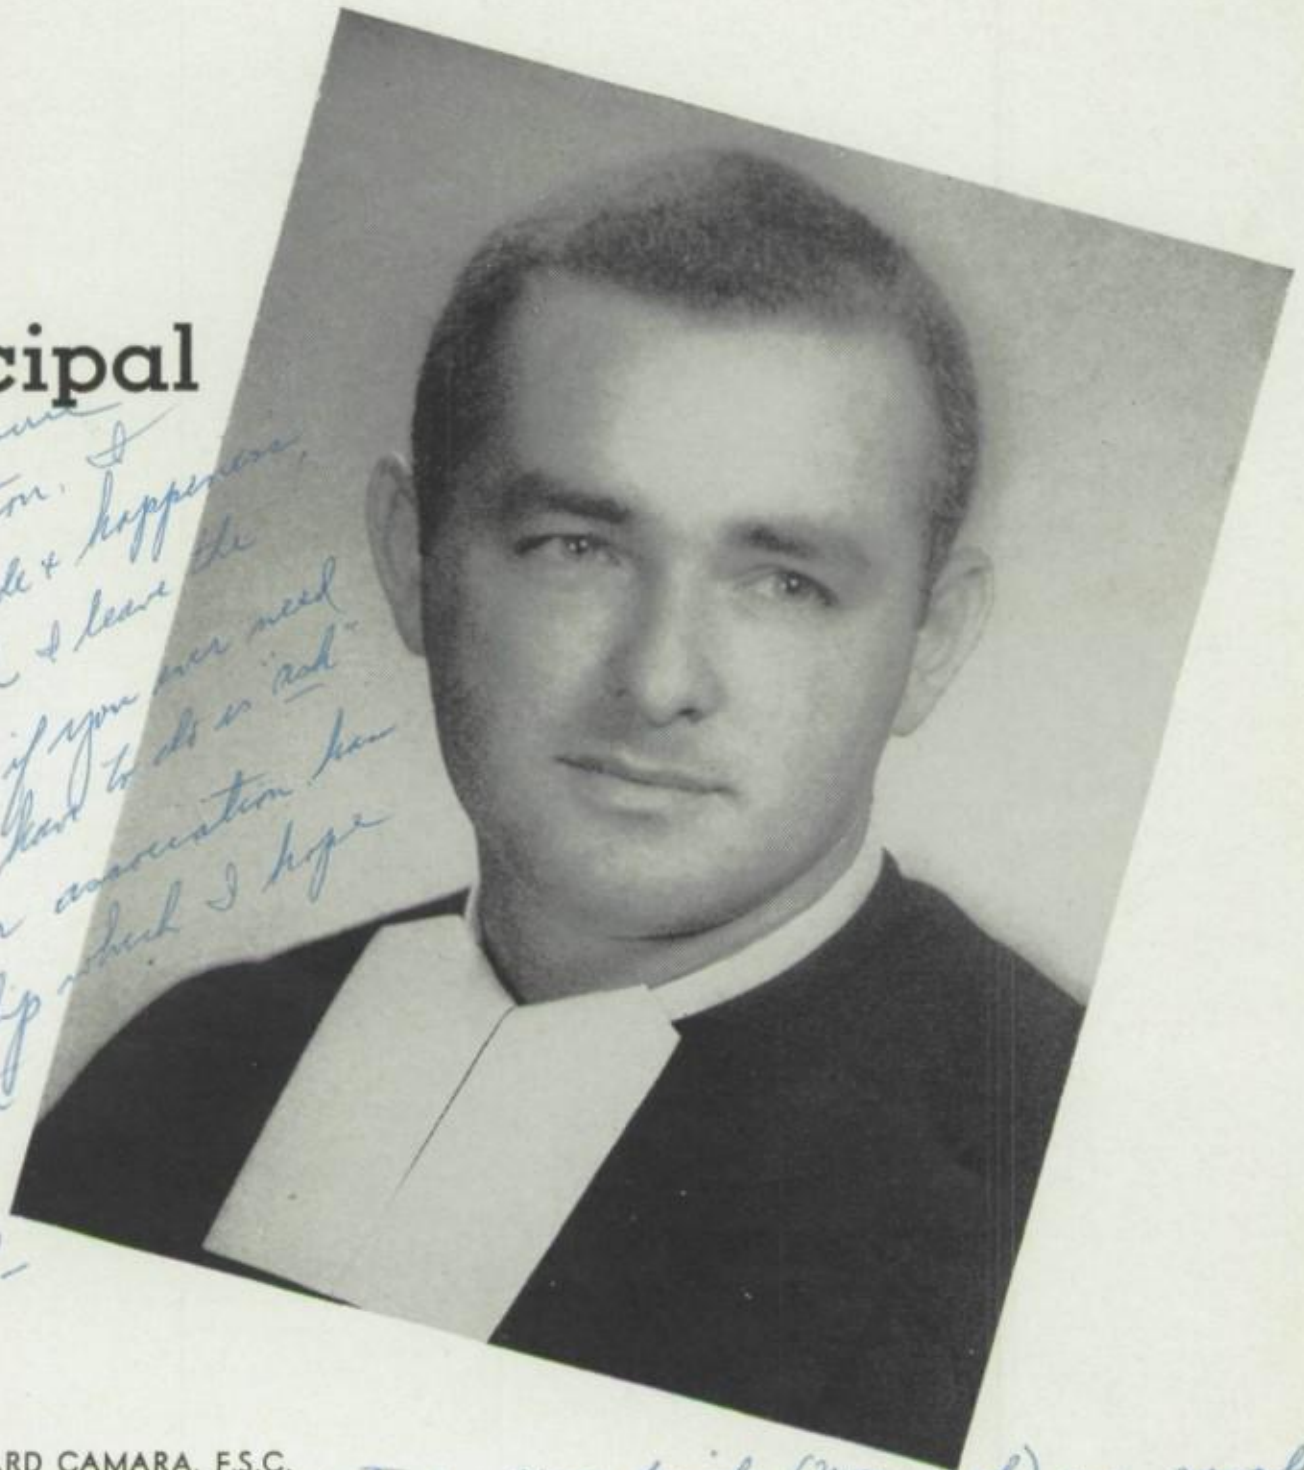

The successes you have individually and collectively garnered are an indication of your dedicated purpose and commit us to hope for even greater things in the future. At a time of questioning, experimentation, dialogue and confusion, you have demonstrated the ability to cope with challenging situations and seek meaningful solutions. Your willingness to strive for a mature Christian existence is a source of encouragement and inspires us with the desire for continued growth as competent educators.

The foundations of Christian manhood have been adequately laid and it will be your task to perfect this initial work, not just for the next two years, but throughout your adult life. Justin's glory will be the formation of men who view life through the eyes of Faith.

Mike,
for all your efforts to make Justin go — from class, to cheer-leader, to student-personal thanks & appreciation. Keep the spirit moving & emulate our friend on the next page
Brother J. Bede

From the Vice Principal

BROTHER RICHARD CAMARA, F.S.C.

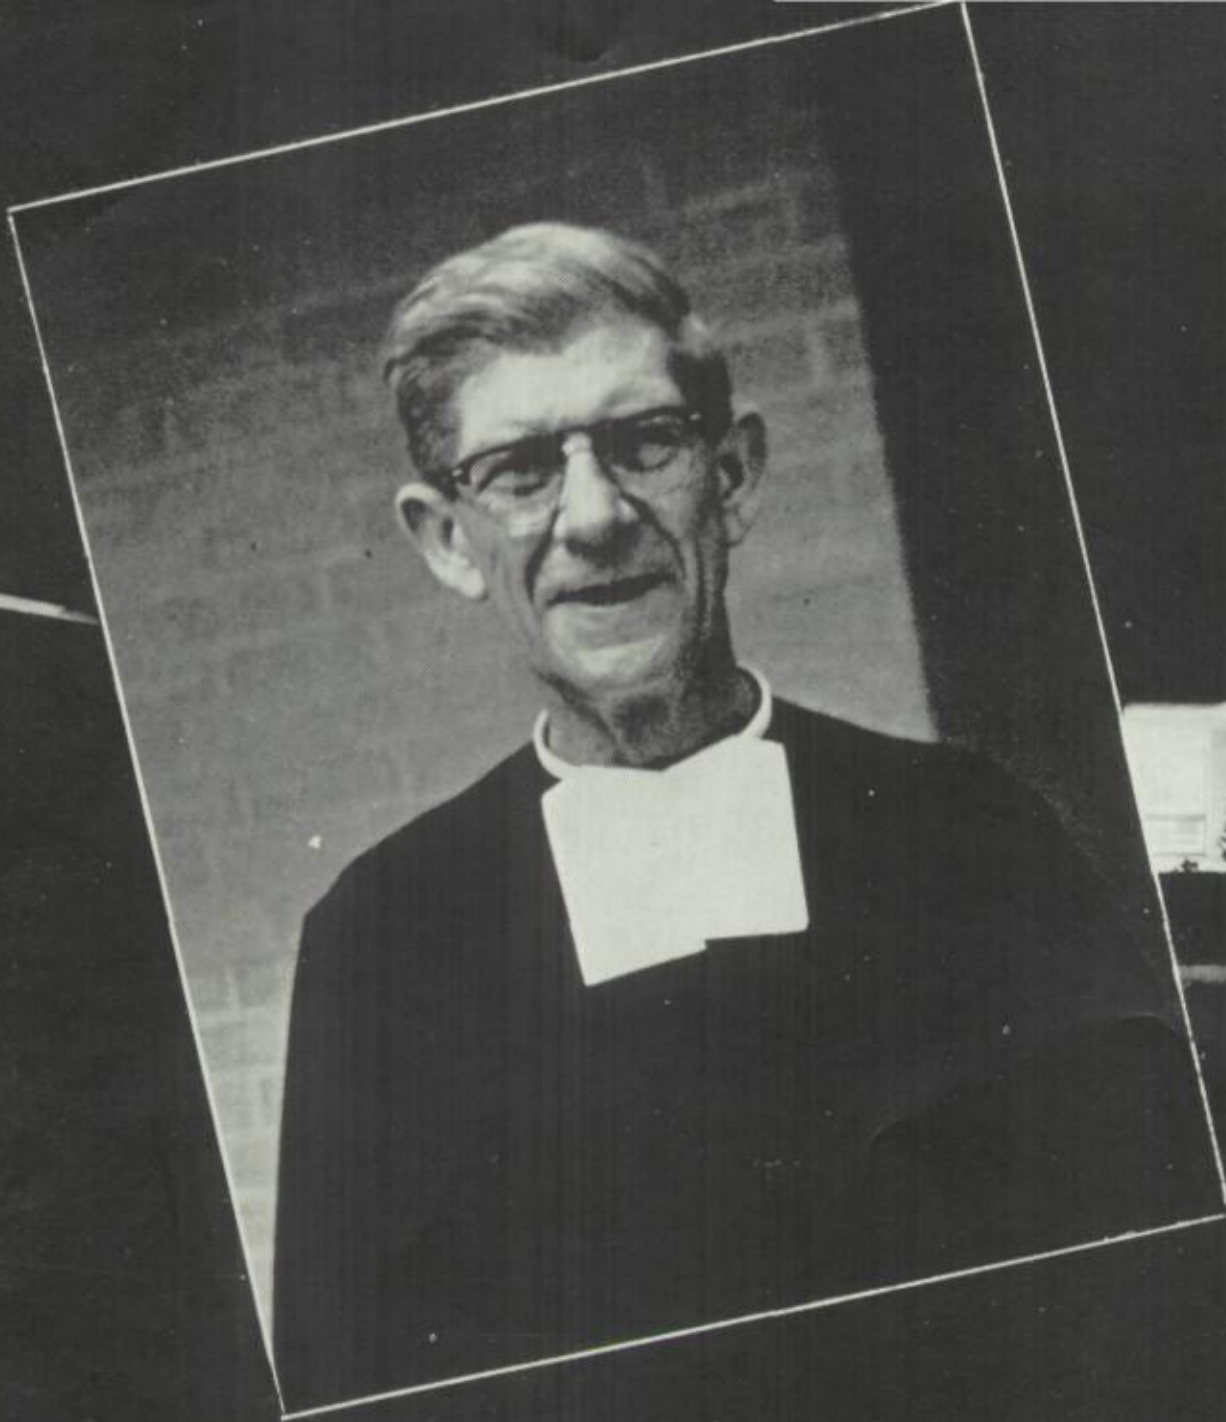

By reflecting over the past two years, I will leave Justin High with many unforgettable memories. My departure imposes a backward glance, as your Vice Principal, only to recall, that at one time, we all met as complete strangers. Yet our close association together soon determined that each of us would identify ourselves as a unique group. A group called upon to begin a creation that soon dictated a close bond of friendship. True, we began to recognize each other's personality and character, amidst our talents and weaknesses, still working together, yet individual enough to experience radical personal change in our lives. Each step placed the challenge of the reality before us and this was met with achievement and, at times, disappointment. Every change and growth unified our efforts and consecrated it with enrichment and fulfilment in our common purpose. As a result, we became FRIENDS in a way we did not predict.

Even though time will make many changes, we will never be separated because JUSTIN has meant too much to each of us. Our hands have formed more than just the name and we have earned the right to show our pride in this mutual endeavor. The beginning of Justin's history is still being written and there are countless more pages to write. You will continue to play a very important role, by actualizing her potential through the concepts you are learning now.

I wish you every success and take leave with the conviction of knowing that we are all CHRISTIAN BROTHERS together.

Be good—remember this CB—stay in contact—your friend & buddy

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The 1968 BRAVE cannot be considered finished until deserving compliments are extended to all those who assisted in its production.

Our sincere THANKS to the many merchants and friends for their support which testifies to their belief in our efforts. Mr. Noel Goursolle and his staff at Coronet Portraits are worthy of special commendation for their timely and valuable contribution of photography which continually displays their interest in Justin High School. In addition, the talented photographic assistance of Mike Hamilton, Mark Petersen, Mrs. Alston Lewis and Mr. Al Snook are to be specially recognized. We appreciate the Napa Register for the use of several pictures and thank Stanford University for permitting us to reprint certain art sketches from their 1951 Quad. Credit goes to Mr. Bill Kay for his artistic drawings which represent his talented response to our request. Not to be overlooked is Mr. Bob Ozias of Lederer, Street & Zeus Company whose contribution cannot be expressed in words but only defined with deep appreciation on our part.

To the YEARBOOK STAFF, a special applause from Brother Richard Camara, their Advisor, for their encouragement, labor and generosity to his demands. For these and countless other favors, he is indeed grateful, for without their imagination, initiative and industry, the first BRAVE would not be a reality.

THANK YOU TO EVERYONE
